

Sunfield Institute

Where Professionals Go To Grow

OUR MISSION

The Sunfield Institute is a professional development organization dedicated to providing gold standard mental health related training for professionals across all fields. The institute was developed out of our experience with the Sunfield Center, an outpatient mental health center, and Sprouted Sage, a comprehensive early intervention center for young children with developmental needs.

Our team specializes in providing live and on-demand training for agencies, professionals, and community partners to promote positive change in the emotional and behavioral health of families. With backgrounds working in inpatient and outpatient settings, education, and academic institutions, our trainers bring a wealth of experience and expertise on a diverse range of topics including assessments like the ADOS-2, and ADI-R, as well as evidence-based treatments like Parent-Child Interaction Therapy.
